Challenges and Promises of Infusing Writing across the Curriculum

This forum will present space for a dialogue on the unique challenges and promises of incorporating writing across the curriculum. We will hear from four interdisciplinary panelists who have broad expertise in the areas of developing writing abilities in multilingual nursing students, assessing writing abilities in students in math and science, utilizing writing courses and assignments for the development of institutional quality enhancement plans, and adapting the Writing Proficiency Requirement to be relevant to specific department needs and preferences across UMB.
